International Women's Day Celebration

Lydia Adams Davis

Lydia Adams Davis is a recording artist hailing from the early days of family concerts with Pete Seeger and the Hudson River Sloop Singers. She was welcomed to join the Peoples' Voice Cafe roster of performers by the legendary Ray Korona. A witty storyteller and activist singer she has inspired children and uplifted groups by delivering outstanding improvised songs and "Herstorical" ballads. Her song "Our Homes Along the River" is currently in radio distribution. Truly, "A woman's hands will get things done!" lydiaadamsdavis.com

Judy Kass

Judy Kass draws in her audience with soulful vocals, no-nonsense lyrical storytelling and genre-bending exploration of guitar and piano. Her 2014 debut album, Better Things, and her 2016 CD, Beyond the Ash and Steel, both received notable airplay, appearing on the Folk DJ List of Top Albums for those years. An award-winning songwriter, Judy can also be heard performing with Amy Soucy and Glen Roethel in their harmony driven trio Us! Their co-write, "Too Much Crying," won the Gold Award in the Open Category of the 36th Mid-Atlantic Song Contest. Judy is completing a new album to be released this year. judykass.com

Brooklyn Stoop Singers

A Brooklyn Stoop Singers performance features lively choruses, vibrant harmonies and strong voices wrapped around guitar, banjo and mandolin accompaniment. Individually and in other bands, the group's members have been delighting East Coast audiences for decades with their eclectic, traditionally rooted repertoire, including songs from the British Isles and Appalachian Mountains, singalongs, gospel numbers, sea chanteys and contemporary pieces. An ensemble since 2022, the group unites Deirdre Bialo-Padin, Katie Browning, Chris Carpenter, Elizabeth Hershon, and Chris Seymour.

Heather Lev

Heather Lev is an award-winning folksinger, multi-instrumentalist and songwriter known for her political songs, lightning-fast fingerstyle guitar playing, and quirky but singable lyrics. For the last ten years, Heather has been known by most as her alter ego, Heather Krasna, PhD, public health expert and author, and tonight marks her return to the stage. She'll be doing a set called "Songs Before Public Health," including her original songs, and songs from the 14th to the 20th century about life before birth control, vaccines, antibiotics, and human rights. She will play guitar, ukulele, banjolele, lyre, lap dulcimer, banjo and wooden flute, and will be joined by percussionist Michael Lengyel.

Hudson Valley Sally

Hudson Valley Sally (Laurie Siegel, Terry Colliton, and David Tarlo) is a folk trio in the tradition of Pete Seeger, loving audience participation. They are known for their tight harmonies and joyful sound. Their music is designed to make you think and inspire hope. "Hudson Valley Sally sings with a freshness and innocence that reminds us why we fell in love with folk music in the first place."—Si Kahn. facebook.com/HudsonValleySally

Generations: Mike & Aleksi Glick

In another lifetime, singer/songwriter/satirist Mike Glick swapped first LPs with Lucinda Williams, and had Pete Seeger call him "one of the best songwriters going." Mike Glick has won numerous awards for his songwriting and has performed throughout the US, in Europe, the Caribbean, and Asia. His son Aleksi Glick is a world-class jazz and blues guitarist, singer, and composer who has played jazz duos with such masters as Peter Bernstein, Vic Juris, Ed Cherry and Paul Bollenback. He has recorded with Roberta Flack and many others. He leads his own R&B group, Snack Cat. generations-music.com

Young Women Singer Songwriters Night

Radio Dog

Radio Dog is Charley Baker's folk-inspired solo project. She began writing under the alias Radio Dog in 2020, cultivating a whimsical and lyric-forward sound. Three years later, Radio Dog has become something much more earnest and personal. Drawing from her experience as a queer Black woman, Radio Dog confronts difficult feelings head-on.

Emma Graves

Emma Graves is proud to return to PVC as part of this trio of musicians. Her melodious folk songs combine whimsical storytelling with profound messages over some fancy fingerpicking on guitar, baritone uke, or banjo. These days, when she isn't sharing her music or leading singalongs, she has her hands full as an herbalist and mother to two young sons. folksongsingalong.com
